Join us in Celebrating Arbor Day

J. Sterling Morton

President Theodore Roosevelt

On January 7, 1872, J. Sterling Morton proposed a day that would encourage all Nebraskans to plant trees in their community.

On April 15, 1907, President Theodore Roosevelt, a supporter of the Conservation Movement, issued an "Arbor Day Proclamation to the School Children of the United States.

In 1970 President Richard Nixon made Arbor Day recognized Nationwide.
